FORMER CONVICT WILL HAVE NAME ON STATE BALLOT

ACTION STOPPED

Legislature Held Sole Judge of Qualifications and Election of Members.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison—Joseph Barber, republican nominee for the state senate in the 25th Wisconsin district, will have his name printed on the November general election ballot, as a candidate for the upper house of the legislature, as a result of the issuance today of a permanent writ of prohibition by the supreme court, restraining further action against him.

The writ was issued by Judge H. H. Field of Wausau and other judges in the state who might try to assume jurisdiction of a case instituted to keep the name of Barber off the ballot, on the ground that he is ineligible for office.

By its action the Wisconsin supreme court determined finally that the legislature is the sole judge of qualifications and elections of its members. Court interference with the process of elections or the eligibility of candidates to hold office if elected, is held to be out of keeping with the intent of the state constitution.

The action, started before Judge Reid to enjoin the county clerks of Marathon and Lincoln counties from printing Barber's name on the ballot, is stopped as a result of the court order.

Ineligible in Charge

It had been contended by Ralph E. Smith, independent republican candidate for the senate in the 25th district, that his opponent was ineligible for office, having served a term in the state prison in 1888 for an allegedly infamous crime.

That the court held is a matter of the legislature to decide, not for it to rule in any decision that would anticipate action by the legislature.

LINE UP FORCES FOR ARMY CANVASS

Workers to Meet at "Y" Friday Noon—Dady Makes Plea for Hearty Support.

Plans for making a successful campaign next Wednesday and Thursday for the $4,350 quota for the Janesville district of the Salvation Army will be made at a luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. Friday noon.

Chairman John W. Dady has called the meeting to acquaint Janesville persons with the work of the Salvation Army and solicit their aid as workers.

During the past two weeks alone the Army post has fed 25 people, given away 40 overcoats, have cured for two families, one of three and the other of two members, have cured for two unfortunate girls, have touched here and there the lives of those in want in many ways by carrying cheer and comfort, even though in a meager way, says the statement of Mr. Dady. Continuing he says, there is an average of 350 persons every week in Janesville who go to the North Main street headquarters to receive articles of clothing. In line with their system of character building, the Salvation Army workers permit these people to pay a few cents for each article, rather than give them the articles free, unless they are so absolutely destitute that they cannot even pay a penny for an article which may be worth dollars to them.

"This is a different drive, it is a protective drive, or an insurance drive in that it enables the Salvation Army to help the needy or desperately unfortunate ones and thereby prevent their resorting to violence or other means to obtain relief," says Chairman Dady.

Workers are being asked to devote two hours of their time to raising funds on either Wednesday or Thursday.

Edgerton is asked to raise $500.00 during the drive of Nov. 3 and 4. The quota for Evansville is $500, Milton and Milton Junction, $250. A. E. Whitford is chairman for Milton.

The petition said that the district attorney "rendered no service to Mr. Ballard when he needed it, and did not give him aid to enforce the laws of this state in Peppin county, but did give them aid to violate such laws and opposing the petitioner."

Governor Blaine has not yet acted on the petition.

37 SCARLET FEVER CASES IN BELOIT

Good Health Week Finds Janesville with Only Four—Few Other Cases.

Because of the cooperation between city health and other officials and the townspeople in general, Janesville is unusually free at present from scarlet fever, and other communicable diseases. While other cities in the state are suffering with a great many cases of scarlet fever, Janesville has but four, two of these being of the same family, now in the detention hospital, while the other two are well quarantined.

Beloit reports a total of 37 cases now quarantined, with the number having greatly increased within the past week. This is more than the figure for all cases in this city since January 1, 1919. Many months ago, Janesville was free from the disease than the past two or three, when a slight increase has been noted. The state, on Oct. 7, reported a total of 123 cases of scarlet fever.

Other cases in the city consist of two of chicken-pox and one of diphtheria. These are also well quarantined, and are progressing well.

Precautions should be taken now to stop any further spread of scarlet fever, declares Dr. F. B. Welch, city health officer. Diseases, when discovered, should be isolated at once, and having sore throats should be taken from school at once, and kept isolated in the house until the cause of the sore throat is discovered. A loss of a day or two in school is much more visible than to infect a number of other children with the disease.

Kiwanians Back Homecoming Day

MURDERER OF PAIR IDENTIFIED, CLAIM

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New Brunswick—Mrs. Jane Gibson, farmer, who claims to have witnessed the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Hall, told a newspaper man she had identified the man who, she says, shot the rector, as well as identifying the woman who, she asserts, was with the murderer.

Mrs. Gibson, who was on the Phillips farm at the night of the double murder looking for corn thieves and who claims to have heard the murderer's name called by his woman companion, said she did not know the identity of the slayer at the time but that she recently had recognized him in the prosecutor's office.

Mrs. Gibson who, it was learned Wednesday, had told the authorities the name of the murderer's companion, said Thursday she had once more followed the man and instantly recognized her at the scene of the murder on the Phillips farm.

Amplifying her previous story, Mrs. Gibson said she rode on a mule back from her home into DeBussy's lane, following the wagon without lights which she thought was driven by corn thieves. She said she saw the wagon turn into Easton avenue, towards New Brunswick. The lane intersects Easton avenue just beyond "Lovers lane" in which the two bodies were found.

Just at the intersection, Mrs. Gibson said, she saw an old style automobile standing in DeBussy's lane. Beside the machine, she declared, were a man and a woman, and she stopped her mule about 40 feet from them. Then, her mule started, and another machine turned into the lane, and the flood of light from its headlights fell on the two persons beside the old automobile.

A second automobile, she said, backed out of the lane, and sped away on Easton avenue, but while its lights were thrown on the old machine she recognized the man and woman.

Mrs. Gibson said the woman wore a gray coat extending to her knees. She said she had a heavy dark mustache, bushy eyebrows and was of heavy build.

"When I went to the prosecutor's office," she said, "I saw this man and recognized him as the one who was standing beside the car."

Heard Shot, Screamed.

Mrs. Gibson says that, after the second car had withdrawn, the man and woman crossed DeBussy's lane and went into the fields in a general direction of the apple tree. She said she instinctively followed the man and woman.

"When I turned into the dirt road," she said, "I lost one of my moccasins. I dismounted to get it. When I put it on and climbed back on the mule, the couple disappeared."

"A few moments later I heard loud voices in the direction of the crab apple tree. I saw a man and a woman, and I saw them throw the beams on another man and woman. Then out of the darkness I heard more loud talking, as if all were quarreling. Then I heard a shot."

"I heard a woman's voice scream in horror."

Mrs. Gibson said the woman who screamed uttered a name and shouted, "Please, please."

"Then," she said, "Mrs. Gibson, I saw my heels into the mule and went home."

This Another Story.

Mrs. Gibson fixes the time of the shooting at 9:30 p. m. Her story fits in with that of Mr. and Mrs. Normal Tingle, who live on "Bessie" avenue not far from the DeBussy's lane. Mrs. Tingle has declared that on the night of the shooting she called her husband's attention to a falling star. She looked at his watch at that time, Mrs. Tingle said, and it was 9:30. A few minutes later, both reports, they heard shots in the direction of the Phillips farm.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison—The shortage of freight and stock cars, already causing increased losses to potato, cabbage and stock shippers in Wisconsin probably cannot be relieved for some time, the Interstate Commerce commission Thursday advised H. T. Trumbower, a member of the state railroad commission.

Demands for rolling stock in other parts of the country are drawing up on the supply heavily that the railroads cannot possibly meet them, the Interstate Commerce commission said. This leaves the state commission to try the best to bring equitable distribution of the available cars in Wisconsin to meet the needs of shippers, who are clamoring for relief.

The range cattle shipped on account of the severe storms, have absorbed the meagre car supply available on lines serving the northwest while drought conditions in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and elsewhere have made a demand for cars beyond the ability of carriers to furnish," the telegram received by the commission said.

"Box and refrigerator cars are being moved west continuously in an effort to meet these requirements but demands on these cars also exceeds the possibility of furnishing them as required."

Award of $10,000 Against Insurance Company Called Unreasonable.

Superior—An appeal to set aside the verdict of the federal jury awarding Mrs. Leona Salistad-Richardson $10,000 to be paid by the New York Life Insurance company as insurance for the death of her husband, J. Richard Salistad, was made by the counsel for the insurance company before Judge C. Z. Luse in federal court here Thursday.

Claims that the verdict of the jury, finding that Edward J. Salistad perished in a fire at Lake Nebagamon, Aug. 27, 1920, was unreasonable are made by the insurance company. Counsel for the insurance company assert in their motion to set aside the jury's verdict that the court erred several times in permitting and excluding certain evidence during the trial. White Cloud, Mich.—Mrs. Meda Hodell, 20 year old swamp country girl, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a circuit court jury here today in connection with the death of her invalid father-in-law, David Hodell. The jury had deliberated a little more than two hours.

Mrs. Hodell was accused of having poisoned her father-in-law who lived in her home because "he was such a care." Hodell died last winter.

Outgrowth of Inquiry

The case was the outgrowth of investigations into the alleged slaying of Hodell's son, Romie Hodell, at his farm home near here last May.

During the investigation Mrs. Hodell is alleged to have confessed that she poisoned the elder Hodell and also was concerned in the killing of her husband. She later repudiated the alleged confession.

Mrs. Hodell, her mother, Mrs. Alice Dugan, and her brothers, Herman and Lee Dugan, are charged jointly with having been implicated in the death of Romie Hodell. WAIT DECISION IN DELAVAN HEARING

Minister Charges Misrepresentation in Sale of Bonds by Agent.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Delavan—With the conclusion of the hearing here Monday of Dr. Wesley Boag's complaint against the A. B. Leach and company, Chicago, for gross misrepresentation in the sale of bonds by their agent, Dana Sheppard, a decision is awaited within the next few weeks. Harry W. Harriman, special investigator for the securities department of the Wisconsin railroad commission, conducted the hearing at the city hall here Wednesday and Thursday.

An investment of $10,000 by six friends of Dr. Boag, pastor of the Methodist church, was involved. The minister said his position as a confidante of members of his congregation made it important that gross care should be exercised in recommending any investment and that he had made it a rule to avoid all securities. On representation of Sheppard Dr. Boag alleged, he advised certain friends to invest in the bonds of the Island Oil and Transportation corporation, paying 8 per cent, and with a participating clause and with the guarantee of the Leach company. He also alleged that Sheppard represented it was an exceptionally limited opportunity but that he later learned the Leach company had $250,000 of the bonds.

All charges are denied, and that adequate representations were made in all cases as to the true value of all securities offered by its agent is stated in the Leach company answer.

Testimony of Dr. Boag was heard by Investigator Harriman. C. J. Sumner, Delavan, represented the plaintiff and Attorney Johnson, Chicago, the Leach company. Sheppard brought several character witnesses from Deloit to testify.

Farm Bureau Official Information

ONLY 64 BUSHELS FARM PRICES SHOW OUT OF 100 GROW AN UPWARD TREND

Largest Corn Crop in History was in 1917 Says Government.

Of every 100 bushels of corn that farmers set out to grow, only 64 bushels are harvested, according to figures compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture over a period of thirteen years. The difference between the potential crop and the quantity harvested is due to weather conditions, defective seed, plant diseases and insect and animal pests. For every bushel of corn harvested some what over one-half bushel falls to reach harvest.

Were it not for the elements that tend to reduce the size of the crop, the average crop for the thirteen year period would have been about 1,274,000,000 bushels. In 1917, the largest year, 2,325,000,000 bushels actually harvested, provided the same average had been planted.

The department points out, however, that if the elements did not exist and corn growers were certain of 100 percent results, the corn acreage probably would have been greatly reduced, so that the final output might not have been a larger crop than that actually harvested. It would mean simply that the farmer could get from two acres the crop he now harvests from about three.

The largest potential corn crop was one of about 5,000,000,000 bushels in 1917, although the actual harvest of 3,065,000,000 bushels in that year was exceeded in the three years 1912, 1918, and 1921, the largest harvested crop being 3,205,000,000 bushels in 1920. A large crop of corn is due to a relatively low percentage of production in the many causes by which it is limited but of course production is also related to acreage, the department's records show.

During the thirteen years the lowest degree of prevention was 23.5 percent of a potential crop in 1920, and the highest was 44.5 percent in 1912. Within the period covered, from about one-fourth to nearly one-half of a potential production has failed to be realized. The average is a little more than one-third.

Bert Austin Has Herd of Feeders For Xmas Market

Holiday storks and beef is in the making on the farm of Bert Austin, east of Janesville, who is feeding 240 baby beefs and 65 older cattle. The Herefords are the famous S. M. and S. Whitefords from Texas.

Austin is one of the biggest feeders in southern Wisconsin and contracts for the baby beefs about the time of the Chicago International. The Herefords are received weighing around 500 pounds and marketed when weighing between 900 and 100 pounds. It requires good judgment and feeding ability to make a profit that represents a fair return on the investment. Austin feeds cracked corn, a molasses preparation and a hominy feed. The cattle gain between 15 and 20 pounds a month.

The present herd is being fitted for the Christmas market. Austin has the creditable reputation of topping the market with his baby beefs.

SHORT COURSE IS BOOSTED BY BANKS

Outline Means of Encouraging Attendance at "Aggie" School.

Milwaukee—Bankers of Wisconsin are being urged through a bulletin sent from Milwaukee by the Wisconsin Bankers' association to assist in checking the decline in attendance at the short course in agriculture offered each year at the University of Wisconsin.

According to Dean Russell, in charge of the college of agriculture at the university, the attendance at the short course has fallen away because many young farm boys were unable to secure funds with which to attend the course. The short course, which took care of some 450 boys three years ago, had 300 students in 1921, and the decline has been continued to 222 in 1922-23, according to the dean. Last year, he said, 14 counties in Wisconsin were not represented.

A. J. Hocken, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Bankers' association, said in his bulletin that the short course has been called the best investment in education in the state of Wisconsin. There have been 4,120 young men in its classes since the course was established in 1885. Of these, 31 per cent are now engaged in some form of agriculture, 80 per cent on Wisconsin farms. It was said.

To assist in solving the difficulty of financial reasons the agricultural committee has made the following suggestions: First, that each of the banking associations provide a scholarship fund, the recipient of which might be selected through co-operation of the college; second, that individual banks loan directly to deserving, ambitious farm boys the necessary money to complete one year's work.

The short course is conducted at the university from Nov. 13 to March 16.

McAdoo Stricken in Wichita, Kan.

Wichita, Kan.—Wichita apparently is an unhealthy spot for prominent Democrats.

William C. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, is suffering from an attack of stomach trouble, and all his speaking engagements scheduled in Kansas have been postponed. He hopes to resume the stump at Salt Lake City.

McAdoo had a severe attack shortly after leaving Wichita Tuesday night, his physicians announced.

Three years and one month ago Woodrow Wilson was stricken here and forced to stop his speaking tour.

Inspiration to Order!

He does a lot of many kinds of writing, but he is no "hack" for all that.

This is what he told us:

"If I waited for inspiration to start work, I would get very little done. I have to get warmed up to my subject first—then inspiration, if you want to call it such, promptly materializes. To my mind, inspiration is a manufactured product."

Let's put it this way:

To get inspiration, get interested; to get interested, get busy. Haven't you noticed how your thoughts soar and your heart sings and your powers increase when you get "all wrapped up" in what you're doing?

The Black Menace

A CRAIG KENNEDY STORY

By ARTHUR B. REEVES.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Clare Claremont, finding on the death of a respected uncle that she is penniless and her fortune of a million dollars has been dissipated, discovers that she has been a victim of the Black Menace, a notorious society blackmailer. She appeals to Ravenel, a society detective, and to Craig Kennedy, the more efficient detective, to aid her. Clare is engaged to be married to Jack Speed, a newspaper reporter, whose father is wealthy, but has determined the son shall earn a living. Kennedy also has a warm, cheerful, not to attempt to aid Clare, driving hastily to the Grandy home. Kennedy finds that the rich man, Grandy, and investigates the cause, Ravenel and Kennedy agree on a plan of action.

An effort to kidnap Clare Claremont is made, but owing to the rapid work of Jack Speed, it is frustrated. Ravenel, of the kidnappers, escapes and is followed. In the meantime Kennedy finds evidence that Grandy was sent to him in a letter. The detective discovers a country house where it was held. The man, Grandy, is a beautiful and mysterious Russian, a beautiful and mysterious Russian, a beautiful and mysterious Russian.

Search of the maid's room disclosed that she had left in a great hurry, also. She had not had time to remove the effects yet she had evidently taken what she considered most valuable. Everything indicated that she had gone in haste, perhaps expecting never to return. It was ominous.

On the other hand, there was evidence that Clare had also left in haste with the expectation of coming back again soon. Kennedy turned his attention more particularly to the maid's room, there began a more minute search, an examination from him attracted our attention. There, tucked away in a corner of a bureau drawer he had discovered six loaded cartridges. Speed examined them. "From Clare's gun that I gave her," he exclaimed.

Kennedy by this time had upturned a small box of blanks. As we looked at them to our amazement so much was evident. The maid must have been in the secret of the Black Menace. She had taken out the real cartridges from Clare's pistol and had substituted blanks.

Now Women Can Choose Pure or Impure Soap

By JANE LEE

It may seem peculiar that laundry soap makers have never until recently made a bar for us women who give time and money in washing our clothes that fabric manufacturers obtain in washing their new materials. One reason is that in our laundry soap makers give us the size and price we wanted but had no "filler" with the soap to make up size and weight.

"Filler" is pasty water glass made from sand and other substances. You rub it into the material when you think you're rubbing out dirt. These "fillers" are the materials on the water glass crystallizes when the clothes dry out and cuts the threads. Doubtless you've noticed strange little holes in your linens and thought they were from wear.

Fabric makers wash with olive oil soap. They know there is nothing like olive oil to soften and protect fibers and protect colors. But olive oil is too expensive to be put into common laundry soap unless the soap maker can buy and convert it in huge quantities and so get the cost down low enough.

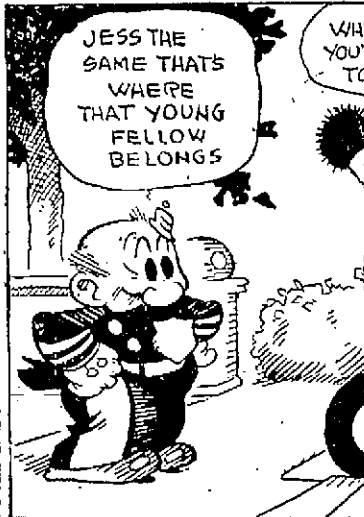

Well, that's what The Palmolive Co. has done. Their new, large bar of GREEN ARROW laundry soap contains naphtha and olive oil. It is the most economical on the market even at a cent or two more. For being all soap—no "filler"—it goes about twice as far as ordinary laundry soap which is only 1/2 to 1/3 soap. GREEN ARROW is green because of the olive oil, not coloring.

Ladies! I promise if you use GREEN ARROW Soap for a month you will be well rewarded.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

Everyone knows that horseradish is the most effective complexion bleach, yet very few know how it should be made. It sounds so dangerous to experiment with. In a matter of fact it is perfectly simple. All you do is scrape a teaspoonful of horseradish into a cup of sour milk and let it stand six hours before you use it. It can stand longer, so if you do not use the entire cupful it can be put away and used in a day or two. It will not make the skin smart and it can be applied two or three times a day. Some skins are so sensitive that anything will make them smart. Should it, by any chance, begin to sting it can be rinsed off in any case. It must be washed off after it has dried in.

This is an excellent bleach for an obstinate case of tanning, and for most ordinary cases of freckles. It has been used in some rough-and-ready forms in fresh butter-milk, though butter-milk itself is a splendid bleach and particularly good for dry complexions, and for greasy, coarse-grained skin. Both buttermilk and sour milk contain a fair proportion of what chemists call lactic acid which in concentrated or synthetic form, is found in most complexion powders. Made bleach to the expensive and complicated preparations purchased ready-made. Not all such preparations are to be trusted. Some bleaches will dry the skin; many that are too strong will induce premature wrinkles. Honey, which is a splendid bleach, and almond milk, which is both bleach and tonic, are very good, particularly in combination. Honey or course must be well diluted because it is so sticky. Lemon juice is also a splendid bleach but must be diluted for the face.

Dinner Stories

The story goes that Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin recently met in one of the moving picture studios. Said Charlie: "Mary, I don't like what you said about me in your new book."

"Why, what did I say?" questioned Mary.

"Haven't you read it?" asked Charlie.

"Oh, mercy, no," Mary replied.

"That's a fine pack of hounds you have," "Yes, sah," replied the man.

"That's a fine chimney you have on the end of your house," "Yes, sah," said the man.

The tourist saw that he wasn't getting very far, and so changed his tack, and asked: "Does that chimney draw?" "Does it draw?" said the man. "Draws the attention of every d—n fool comes by here."

HEART AND HOME

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18 and have been employed for the past three years doing office work. When I started I earned $13 and now I receive $18. Each week I give my parents $6 for board. I buy my own clothes and I dress well. I do as I myself. I have my own spending money and I buy most of my mother and sister's clothes, and I have a bank account of $500.

Don't you think that a girl who has taken care of herself for three years should be her own boss? I never go with fellows and have been to three dances in three years and have no men friends. I go no place except to a movie and my little sister escorts me. I am not of the frivolous type, don't go for men or want to go to cheap dances or with a rough crowd. Even when I go to a movie three times a week my parents object and remind me I run too much.

I live in an attic rooming house, for a house, furnished as of the plainest, have a 2x4 bedroom with just about eight inches between the bed and dresser. Even this room is occupied by two others of the feminine gender besides myself.

I have a drinkard for a father. Mother is good even though I am treated mean by her. My parents are polite with what I call "trash." We have eight boarders, all men, in every corner you look there is a man.

My parents always complain because I dress nicely. Most of the girls in my neighborhood are of the different class, working in factories. Naturally they don't require the clothes that I do. My clothes are not expensive because I plan ahead, buy material at the cheaper places, get the best quality and mother and I make them. When mother sews for me I almost always manage to give her some money or buy some article she needs.

I am always reminded of being sent to business college and how much it cost. I would have had to go to school some place until I was 18 and so they didn't do much more than the law required.

Don't you think that if a girl is capable of supporting herself as I have done she is capable of taking care of herself? A girl who works in a stuffy

MEDICAL AUTHORITIES PRONOUNCE COMMON COLD DEADLIEST ENEMY

WARNING TO THE PUBLIC ISSUED

"DON'T NEGLECT A COLD—TAKE INSTANT STEPS TO CHECK AND CURE IT."

NEW HOME TREATMENT DISCOVERED.

Because the common cold is your deadliest enemy and because by its elimination many lives can be saved each year, a movement is now on foot to persuade every family to provide itself with a suitable remedy. Simultaneously comes the announcement by the Mucosolvent laboratory of the discovery of a very pleasant, efficient, safe, for home use. This salve, applied in the nostrils, is said to bring up a cold at once.

Physicians' records will show that every year there are needless cases of pneumonia resulting from the neglect of a cold. By the use of this new preparation a great deal of suffering and grief may be avoided. If you have a cold or any member of your family has a cold, go immediately to the nearest drugstore and ask for Mucosolvent Salve. It comes in small glass jars and costs only a quarter.

Simple Home Remedy.

There is nothing complicated in its use, neither does it interfere with any medicine you may be taking. The cold being in its first stages, all that is necessary is to apply Mucosolvent Salve in each nostril with the finger, then sniff it hard; the nose and head will open immediately and great relief will follow.

Mucosolvent Salve is very pleasant, soothing and healing, containing as it does oils of turpentine, eucalyptus, menthol crystals, etc., in a base of refined petroleum jelly. It is not greasy nor will it stain the clothing.

If a cold has reached the secondary stage, but has not reached the chest, it is still easily handled. Melt a small quantity in a spoon or the cup and inhale the vapors that arise. These vapors are very powerful (though pleasant) and will clear the head almost instantly. Repeat three times at fifteen minute intervals, meanwhile applying salve in each nostril and rubbing on throat and upper lip.

Children's Colds.

Children's colds are decidedly more dangerous than those of adults and until Mucosolvent Salve was discovered probably more difficult to treat because the child's stomach so often rebels against strong medicines. But Mucosolvent Salve, applied externally and the treatment is so

NEW CREDIT PLAN STARTED AT J. H. S.

Pupils Marked for Initiative,
Self-Control, in Addition to Studies.

A more thorough idea of progress in school work is given by the cards just issued to high school pupils, showing the first six weeks' record. Before giving out the cards, mimeographed sheets explaining the markings and how to obtain the highest were given each pupil.

One card is given for each subject. The pupils' names, the subject, the year, semester, grade teacher, and name of adviser, as on the other cards, are seen. On the first line, the attendance is given. Next is the degree of self-control, next initiative, and next class work. These are summed up and a total given.

Instead of having anything from 75 to 100 given, now an excellent mark, called A, is worth 1.0 credit; B is worth 1.1; C, 1.2; D, 1.3; E, 1.4; F, 1.5; G, 1.6; H, 1.7; I, 1.8; J, 1.9; K, 2.0.

Initiative is taken as estimating the amount of responsibility for carrying on work on his class. The pupil has to estimate himself the amount assumed shows how seriously the pupil considers his school life. Class work estimates the quality of the pupil's work during the class period.

Definite Standards Fixed
So that the individuality of the teacher or will not enter into the marking. The following are those for securing A:

Attendance, habitually present. Self-control, reliability, cooperative with fellow students and teacher, order, a contributing member of the group who stimulates class activity, but does not try to dominate; activities in class show that he considers school a serious and worth while business.

Initiative, consistently does more work than is expected; always ready to assume the responsibility of leadership; desires to put an idea into the teacher's mind; for illustrative matter which will help make the class more profitable. Class work, quick at attacking work, efficient in concentration, accurate in achievement; readily grasps the fundamentals of the subject; shows originality in thought and method of procedure; systematic and thorough preparation for all work; retains fundamental materials shown by his ability to use them in new situations; prompt in work, carries out suggestions made; characteristically expresses himself in "good English"; pays attention to the work of the class; carefully takes down assignments, usually understands it, but always makes sure that he does; equipped for work.

The standard has been put high enough so that the securing of an A is a real accomplishment. Other grades are less high in standards, all the way down to F, where three words express the character "can't," "won't" and "incapable."

Try Sloan's ointment. Limited samples on aching backs and neuralgia. Try it on that "cold in the chest."

HATE FLAMES IN MISSOURI POLITICS

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

St. Louis, Mo.—Missouri is aflame with the fires of personal and partisan rivalry in politics such as no other state in the union is experiencing this year.

The issue in brief, is Jim Reed, nominee on the democratic ticket, who will owe his election, if he wins, to the support he will get from the republicans of Missouri.

There are those who hate Jim Reed with as intense a political hate as has been visited on a public man. There are those who would fight at the drop of a hat at the mention of his name in adverse terms. Jim Reed's remarkable personality, his singular eloquence and power of persuasion on the stump have been responsible for victory if that be the outcome.

One says "it" with a feeling that it ought to be eliminated. For on canvassing people of all beliefs and prejudices, the fear is much more pronounced on the part of Reed's opponents that he will win than it is among republicans.

Reed's Fight

The league of nations, the wet and dry issue, the martyrdom of a man who says that he paid the penalty of independence of judgment when he incurred the disfavor of Woodrow Wilson, and the fact that Missouri was torn apart by the bitter primary fight between Reed and Long—all this has been completely unimportant to the man who has been able to pull the turn on Missouri elections throw up their hands in despair. They have never seen such a mixed up situation.

First of all, the forces behind Jim Reed are these:

1. Practically all the Germans and their kindred, most of whom are republicans.
2. The "wet" element of the state, democrats and republicans.
3. The foes of the league of nations—democrats who have stuck to Jim Reed throughout and who cannot about voting for a man who helped kill American participation in the league than they care about party affiliation.
4. Many independents who like a man of Jim Reed's fighting qualities.

Behind Brewster

1. The regular republican strength minus, of course, those who would desert temporarily to help Jim Reed.
2. Most of the democratic women who fought against Reed in the primaries because of various references in previous speeches by the senator to women in politics.
3. Tens of thousands of men who dislike Reed's career in politics, and his opposition to Woodrow Wilson. They openly say they will bolt the ticket.

Deserting the Party

Curiously enough, most observers think the republicans deserting Brewster will be greater in number than the democrats deserting Reed.

It is because nobody can tell in advance of the actual count how many bolters there will be on either ticket that the result is so uncertain. The state is normally a democratic one. The democrats who fought Reed in the primaries are not a solid bloc. Many will stay regular at the last minute. This state's democracy is a counterpoise of the old solid south. It was only due to the masterful organization perfected by Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City and other republican leaders that Missouri, when over 100,000 for Harding in 1920.

Primary Prophecy

Senator Reed's victory in the primaries is, of course, the only basis for any forecast, but it is so unsatisfactory because while Brockington Long, who ran against Mr. Reed, is a man of high principles, he is not as forceful a character as the present senator from Missouri. As for R. R. Brewster, he is more likely to extract political than was Mr. Long. He is, in other words, a stronger candidate against Senator Reed, and the chances are that he would have won easily this year, if Mr. Long had won the democratic nomination.

Sensor Reed has made a spectacular and dramatic campaign. His desperate desire to win has not interfered with his calm and careful political tactics. He is not rushing in so violently to attack his opponents and their issues as he was in the primary. He isn't even answering many of the attacks of Mr. Brewster. He isn't playing to the "wets" but is trying hard for the labor vote.

Personalities

It is hard, however, for Jim Reed to eliminate invective and sarcasm from his speeches. Some one asked R. R. Brewster what his full name was and the newspapers printed his reply as "Reginald Raymond Brewster." Jim Reed always refers to his opponent as "Brewster." It is his characteristic way of being complimentary. Enemies and friends alike say Jim Reed will win single-handed. If he does triumph, his organization is secondary. His party support is of doubtful value. He is fighting at this time, however, with a better chance to win than his opponent, though one is amazed at the number of democrats who supported Long, who hint they will vote the republican ticket but who probably will never acknowledge the fact. It's anybody's race at the finish.

GIRLS TO APPEAL FOR DISABLED VETS

Make Plans Here for Forget-Me-Not Sale, Saturday, November 4.

A local committee for making "Forget-Me-Not" day here, Nov. 4, a success has been chosen by Dr. Leola J. Woodworth, appointed chairman by Mayor T. B. Welsh. He has selected M. S. Haggart, Mrs. Sadie Carman, Mrs. Fred Ellis, Jesse Earle and Supt. P. O. Holt to act in securing contributions for disabled veterans.

High school and other girls will be on the streets on the date set, Saturday, selling paper forget-me-nots. The contributions are voluntary, after which the donors are uniformed they will not designate the size of the contribution. Any amount may be given. At the end of the day these sales will be collected by the Janesville Paper Box company, which will be taken to the First National bank, where the money will be counted, and sent to the national headquarters of the American Disabled War Veterans association, Cincinnati.

To those who wish to contribute money to go directly to the aid of disabled men, this will be an excellent opportunity. None but disabled men will receive any benefit, Dr. Woodworth says. It is hoped that throughout the country a large enough amount will be contributed to build a number of hospitals.

Many stores have been put in store windows. One of the most appealing is the picture of a service man on crutches. Rounding matter over, "Did you call it charity when they gave their legs—and arms and eyes?"

Change in Auto Tax Law Is Urged

(An Associated Press Item.)

Madison—Over $400,000 in taxes was lost by the state during the last year as a consequence of existing automobile tax laws. A. R. Hirst, highway engineer, estimates. This loss is due to the failure of the state to assess personal property taxes against nearly 50,000 automobile owners.

Under existing law automobile owners pay a license fee of $10 which brings revenue totalling nearly $4,000,000 into the state treasury for highway maintenance purposes. At the same time the state is supposed to assess the machines as personal property.

Of the 370,000 car owners who paid license fees, figures prepared by the tax commission show that more than 10,000 had paid at the same time the license fee is paid.

The next legislature will be asked to remedy this loss hole in the laws by eliminating the personal property tax and imposing a two per cent tax on license fees. At the same time the license fee is paid.

In spite of the fact that three or four students in the wireless movement last year graduated in June, there is still a great deal of enthusiasm, and 20 members are already assured. If the plans are carried out, weekly meetings after supper would be held. There was no club last year, the work being carried on in connection with the classes.
